Your Halloween hunt starts here!

Scan the code on the right to get Hide & Pic app on Google Play.
In the app, open "Find by QR Code" from the main menu and scan one of the large QR codes on the clue cards above.

Note: Explore, find clues, and hunt for treasure, in the real world, with the app as your guide.

This back side is optional since the Hide & Pic app shows these questions and reads them aloud.
Print it only if you'd like nicer-looking cards (double-sided, flip on long edge).

An Irish Halloween loaf called barmbrack hides more than raisins! Find this in your slice and you'll be married within a year – or so they say!

KT82

Lots of Americans squeeze their dogs and cats into Halloween costumes. Year after year, the most popular one turns pets into which Halloween icon?

WD47

Every Halloween, Bran Castle in Transylvania, Romania, throws a huge party for visitors. Which famous Halloween legend is the castle nicknamed after?

YN38

Every Halloween in Churchill, Canada, armed patrols and wailing sirens protect trick-or-treating kids from this animal roaming near town. That fur isn't a costume.

GS96

Towering dancing puppets and thousands of costumed marchers fill Manhattan's streets for the world's largest Halloween parade in which American city?

ZP49

"Halloween" is a squashed-up Scottish form of "All Hallows' Eve". "Hallow" is an old word for saint – so what does the "een" stand for?

DU94

In St. Louis, USA, shouting "trick or treat!" isn't enough – kids earn their candy by telling one of these, and the sillier the better.

BX29

In an Irish legend, Stingy Jack tricked the Devil and had to roam the night with a glowing coal in a carved turnip. That's why he was called "Jack of the ___"!
